NEAR PORT ARTHUR.

Japs Concentrating Their Forces With Siege Guns.

Repetition of the Strategy of the United States Army and Navy Before Santiago De Cuba Will Be Attempted.

Shan Hai Kwan, May 13.—A report received from London that there has been fighting at Wu-Fung-Tien is discredited here. It is reported that there is only small Japanese force in that vicinity.

The main force of the Japanese is said to be concentrated near Port Arthur with siege guns and their intention is believed to be to attempt a repetition of the strategy of the naval and military forces of the United States before Santiago and to drive the Russian fleet out to battle.

The censorship at New Chwang is severe. United States Consul Miller has not been allowed to answer Minister Conger's request for a statement as to the local situation.

Liao Yang, May 14.—The advance guard of the first Japanese army has appeared six miles below Lien Chen Kuan on the road to Liao Yang. It is not making any further advance, but is erecting strong fortifications. The Japanese movements were made with the greatest care.

A persistent report is current here that a Russian squadron of cavalry succeeded in getting behind the Japanese, who were several squadrons strong, and occupying Kuan Dian San. The unexpected appearance of the Russians caused the Japanese to immediately evacuate the town and retire toward the Yalu. The report is believed to be correct.

Col. Elshen, who has returned from a reconnaissance of the district near the River Taitsi, was attacked May 9 by Chinese bandits. One Cossack and two porters were killed by the bandits who were driven off.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—grave fears have been aroused in official circles by the second dispatch from Viceroy Alexeoff announcing that after the engineers had blown up the docks and warehouses in Dalny the entire town was destroyed. This action is taken to indicate a desperate situation, as it is held no ordinary danger could have induced the destruction of the magnificent city built on the order of the czar at heavy expense.

Mukden, May 14.—Pu-La-Tien (near Port Adams, Liao-Tung peninsula) has again been occupied by the Japanese. Communication with Port Arthur is interrupted.

London, May 14.—The Daily Mail Saturday morning published a dispatch from Constantinople according to which Russia is concentrating troops just beyond the Caucasus. The most reliable information, the dispatch says, fixes the present total number of troops at 125,000.

A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Co. from Tokio says the Japanese torpedo boat No. 48 was destroyed Thursday while removing mines in Kerr bay, north of Taliens Wan. The casualties were seven killed and seven injured. This adds the correspondent, is the first war vessel Japan has lost.

Shan Hai Kwan, May 14.—A parcel which left Port Arthur May 10 arrived here Saturday apparently confirming the report that communication with Port Arthur had been restored. There is only vague rumors here of Japanese movements.

It is stated that the heavy loss sustained by the Russians in the battle of the Yalu was due to the inability to control the soldiers. They were ordered merely to develop the enemy's strength, but they rushed headlong against a superior force and were crushed back by a sheer weight of numbers.

Vancouver, B. C., May 14.—Advices received from Japan by the steamer Empress of India indicate that the bottling up of the harbor at Port Arthur has cost the Japanese government $1,241,000 for tramp steamers alone, besides enormous sums for ammunition, repairs, etc. Up to the time of the departure of the Empress of India nine tramp steamers have been used in the bottling up process.

Liao Yang, May 16.—The Russian fleet scored its first distinct naval success of the war on May 10 by the torpedoing and crippling, though not sinking, of an armored Japanese cruiser in Taliens Wan bay.

The Russian attack was carefully planned on May 10 while the Japanese squadron was concentrated outside Dalny, devoting its whole attention to the Taliens Wan bay, and was carried out the same night.

The attacking force was not a regular torpedo boat, but was only a small naphtha launch in command of a young naval officer who had with him three jackies. The launch mounted a small machine gun and carried three torpedoes.

When darkness fell the launch crept out of Port Arthur, hugging the shore with no lights aboard and no glow from the engines to betray her presence. It was late when she gained the outer line of the Japanese squadron. Slipping through the torpedo boat pickets and selecting the nearest warship, a big armored cruiser, she stole towards her and succeeded in exploding against her side a single torpedo. A deafening roar followed the explosion which echoed far ashore. Immediately flames enveloped the cruiser which evidently was badly crippled.

The crew of the cruiser was seen to be fighting the fire, which they at last succeeded in extinguishing. A sister ship took the damaged vessel in tow and disappeared to the southeast.

The launch escaped the hot fire directed against her by the Japanese ships, but being unable to return to Port Arthur or to get into Dalny, she was beached not far from Dalny.

Only a few of the higher officers were aware of the plan, the success of which depended upon secrecy. The achievement raised the spirits of the Russians afloat and ashore, and the young naval officer who was the hero of the exploit was feted and recommended for the Cross of St. George.

The Russians, on May 11, apprehending that the presence of a Japanese squadron meant an attempt to capture Dalny, blew up the piers and quietly evacuated the place.

Two thousand Japanese have reoccupied the road to Sanchilipu, again cutting off Port Arthur. A strong force is advancing against Polandien.

CHINESE HOSTILITY.

It Causes a Great Deal of Apprehension in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, May 16.—In view of the official dispatches regarding the hostile attitude of the Chinese within and without the Russian sphere of influence, the authorities here do not conceal their apprehension as to the outlook, especially in the north of the empire, for they purpose to call the attention of the Celestial government to the impending uprising in Tapadzai in order that repressive measures may be instantly taken.

It is known and appreciated here that all the powers have made strong representations to Pekin in the interest of the preservation of the tranquility of the empire, but it is stated that Maj. Gen. Pfug's dispatch of May 14 shows the necessity for further impressing the Celestial government with the advisability of acting with a firm hand.

THE ASSAULT ON PORT ARTHUR.

It Will Be Attempted Before the End of May.

London, May 16.—No confirmation has reached London of the rumors of a great battle at Siu-Yen and no attention whatever is paid to the wild reports of the fall of Port Arthur. In Japanese quarters here confidence is expressed that a great assault upon that fortress will be attempted before the end of May.

The correspondent of the Daily News at Che Foo says that he left Port Arthur last Tuesday, when the channel had been cleared, two cruisers having steamed outside. On May 7, he adds, the garrison there numbered 15,000 men and was provisioned for nine months.

AN INTERNATIONAL STRIKE.

One Is Being Considered By the Elevator Constructors.

Philadelphia, May 16.—Because the 700 elevator constructors now on strike in this city for increased wages and the right to go out on sympathetic strike has been ignored, it is claimed by the master elevator builders, the national board of the elevator constructors' union is contemplating an international strike. President Samuel Gompers and First Vice President James Duncan, of the American Federation of Labor, will meet the national board of the elevator men on Tuesday when the question will be determined.

The strike in this city is against the combination of elevator builders which controls 75 per cent of the work in the world. The bone of contention is the sympathetic strike principle.

Members of the national board said Sunday night they had cabled to elevator constructors in London, Berlin and Paris and had received assurances from London and Berlin that the men there will strike, if asked to. The men in those cities are not affiliated with the union in this country, but are employed by the combination which controls elevator construction in the United States.

Vancouver, B. C., May 14.—Advices received from Japan by the steamer Empress of India indicate that the bottling up of the harbor at Port Arthur has cost the Japanese government $1,241,000 for tramp steamers alone, besides enormous sums for ammunition, repairs, etc. Up to the time of the departure of the Empress of India nine tramp steamers have been used in the bottling up process.

CHICAGO MACHINISTS.

Five Thousand of Them Voted to Go Out on Strike.

Chicago, May 16.—A strike by 5,000 machinists, which will make idle 5,000 other workers in all kinds of crafts, was voted for in mass meeting Sunday night by the machinists' union, to take effect Wednesday unless their demand for an increase of wages is granted by the Chicago Metal Trades' association, comprising the leading firms in the metal trades industry.

The Japanese Army in Manchuria.

Liao Yang, May 16.—The Japanese army in Southern Manchuria is marching slowly, evidently being desirous of remaining in close touch with the reserves. The movement is aimed partly at Hail Cheng, but chiefly at Liao Yang.

Russians Commit Outrages.

Seoul, May 16.—On the morning of May 9 the Russians advanced to Kar-chong from which place they attacked Anju. They committed outrages upon the women, broke open the jail, freed the prisoners and kidnapped the jailer.

DEATH IN THE WATER.

A Midshipman Lost His Life Near Annapolis.

A Bridge Span Across the Truckee River Broke and Four Young People Were Thrown into the Water and Drowned.

Annapolis, Md., May 16.—Midshipman Phillip Brittingham, of Wheeling, W. Va., a member of the third class of the naval academy, was drowned about two miles from the naval academy Sunday afternoon. The young man left the academy dock in a sailing launch with Midshipmen Anderson, Henderson, Towers and Stevens, all of the third class. The boat was without centerboard or air tanks and, being caught by a strong gust of wind, capsized and sank immediately. The five young men struggled in the water for about 20 minutes before succor reached them from another academy boat containing several other midshipmen. As the rescuing sailboat came near ears were thrown to the struggling men, but Midshipman Brittingham was unable to grasp his. Midshipman C. T. Blackburn, who was in the second boat, plunged overboard and in his heroic attempt to rescue his drowning classmate was dragged under. Both came to the surface and Midshipman R. R. Steuart bravely went to the assistance of Blackburn. Their combined efforts proved unavailing, and Brittingham sank in 17 feet of water. The other four midshipmen were picked up and the rescuers dove overboard in repeated but unsuccessful efforts to find the body. Midshipman Brittingham was 19 years of age and a son of Rev. Joseph Brittingham.

Reno, Nev., May 16.—By the breaking of one of the spans of the suspension tramway across the Truckee river at Lawton Springs, five miles west of this city, at 2 o'clock Sunday, four young people, Maurice Jacobs, a young business man of this city; Miss McMillan, daughter of a prominent business man of Reno; Mrs. E. Ede, Jr., and C. T. Tilsman, of Chicago, were precipitated from the car into the swollen stream and drowned.

Both young men were athletes and gave their lives in a heroic effort to save their companions. Mr. Jacobs was seen for a few moments swimming with Miss McMillan, holding her above water, but in her terror she grasped his arms and both went down. Tilsman swam for 200 yards holding Mrs. Ede's head above water, and then was seen to turn on his back, when the woman seized him and bore the swimmer beneath the water.

BOTTLING MANUFACTURERS.

They Adjourned Without Conferring With the Union on the Wage Scale.

Pittsburg, May 16.—After frequent conferences during last week to settle price lists and working rules, the different glass bottle manufacturers left for their homes Sunday night without conferring with the Green Bottle Workers' Union on the wage scale. A similar step has not been taken in many years and the workers are considerably exercised over the matter. The manufacturers say it is useless to go into the wage question under the present trade conditions.

E. J. ARNOLD & CO.

The Creditors Will Be Paid a Dividend By the Trustees.

St. Louis, May 16.—Official notice was issued to creditors Sunday by W. D. Coles, referee in bankruptcy, that a dividend of two per cent. on all approved claims against E. J. Arnold & Co., the turf investment concern which failed a year ago with liabilities of $3,000,000 and assets of $75,000, will be paid by the trustee for the bankrupts.

Foreign Journalists Arrive.

New York, May 16.—The steamer Philadelphia, from Southampton, arrived Sunday. Among the passengers was Dr. Mayer, United States consul at Buenos Ayres; William Davies, William Hill, Aaron Watson, Herbert Baker and Paul Ocker, British journalists, who are going to St. Louis to attend the journalists' convention.

Aeronaut Drowned.

Vanburen, Ark., May 16.—Prof. E. Lymbocker, of Logansport, Ind., fell in the Arkansas river here and was drowned. He had just made an ascent of possibly 3,000 feet, but became fastened in his parachute and could not extricate himself. His body was recovered.

Baptized in the River.

Newport, Ky., May 16.—While chill winds swept the valley and the mere sight of the cold, dark waters of the Ohio caused the crowd of observers to shiver, Harry Wilson, recent convert to the colored Baptist church here, had his sins washed away in the icy river.

Y. M. C. A. Convention Ends.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 16.—Two mass meetings, one for women and the other for men, services in several churches and an evening meeting at city convention hall Sunday ended the 35th international convention of the Y. M. C. A. of North America.

Hearst Will Not Bolt.

Washington, May 16.—William Randolph Hearst will support the nomination of the St. Louis democratic convention, whenever he may be. Hearst Saturday authorized this state unequivocally.

Double Track Will Be Laid.

Berlin, May 16.—A leading German steel firm has received a very large order from the Russian government for steel rails, to be used in laying a double track all along the Siberian railroad. The work is to be completed in 18 months.

Thirty Miles of the Railroad Crippled.

New Chwang, May 16.—A Chinese engineer reports 30 miles of the railroad crippled within the past 24 hours between Hsingyo and Wafan Tien. The total number of Japanese troops landed at Pitweso amounts to 30,000.

The Japanese Army in Manchuria.

Liao Yang, May 16.—The Japanese army in Southern Manchuria is marching slowly, evidently being desirous of remaining in close touch with the reserves. The movement is aimed partly at Hail Cheng, but chiefly at Liao Yang.

Russians Commit Outrages.

Seoul, May 16.—On the morning of May 9 the Russians advanced to Kar-chong from which place they attacked Anju. They committed outrages upon the women, broke open the jail, freed the prisoners and kidnapped the jailer.

THRO' KENTUCKY.

Thro' the grand state of Kentucky,
Where the "Old Home" got its name,
Where the fields are overflowing
With the yellow ripening grain.

Here tobacco plants are growing,
In the fields not sown with corn,
Tobacco plants—big as cactus—
Just as sure as you are born.

Yes, they're large as good-sized cactus,
Larger in our home-like view,
But it's of a fine a grade as
Is that old "Kentucky Dew."

Here all people reap a harvest,
Money in bank from year to year,
All the green calamity howlers,
Lose their jobs when they land here.

Here the "dry" ways are the highways,
Built high and dry from rains and flood.
Here the "good roads delegation,"
Swear the roads are suitably good.

But of piles and highways finest,
There's a "road" that suits my taste;
Tis the line of Solid Comfort,
And the trains let no time waste.

From Kentucky to St. Louis,
Operates this road of class,
Across the famous old "Green River"
On its roadbed smooth as glass.

Would you know the road I speak of?
Listen then to my advice,
For you'll need it in your business,
On your trip to Paradise.

In your travels to St. Louis—
Hustle; beat them under the wire,
"Get the Henderson Route" habit—
"Tis a good one to acquire.

THE PRESS CONGRESS.

It Will Convene on the World's Fair Grounds on Thursday.

AGED MRS. GILLESPIE.

The First Witness to Testify in the Murder Trial.

Rising Sun, Ind., May 13.—The jury finally secured in the Gillespie trial is as follows: Albert Pate, David Bailey, David H. Gibson, George Reiman, W. J. Spaulding, Hugh French, William Ward, Martin Scranton, Samuel Campbell, sr., farmer; J. S. Thompson, engineer; Ira Powell, farmer; J. P. Hanna, farmer. The last four are new jurors. Before the testimony started the jury was sent to view the premises where the tragedy occurred.

Because of the display of temper of James Gillespie Wednesday afternoon, when being taken to jail, Judge Downey has ordered a special deputy to accompany Sheriff Rump with the prisoner to and from the courtroom. Gillespie was angered at an attempt to secure a snapshot photo, and stooped as though to secure a stone. Rump caught him and hurried him to jail.

Rising Sun, Ind., May 14.—Mrs. Margaret Gillespie, mother of James Gillespie, was placed on the stand as the first witness. She sat beside Jim when she entered the courtroom, and seemed fairly well composed. In answer to questions by Harry McMullen, one of the attorneys for the prosecution, she stated that she will be 80 years of age on June 2. She has been a widow 11 years. She said that Jim and Elizabeth were twins. Jim is now 38 years of age. He left home three or four years ago, saying that he had a good home across the street." She had known the Barrows for years.

She detailed the events of the night preceding the shooting, and told of the sound of the shot, which she mistook for a fearful explosion. "I thought of Elizabeth in the front room, and called to her. I received no response. Then I ran into the room. I had been sitting in the sitting room, behind the door. Had I been standing in the door, I would have been shot, too. I found Elizabeth lying at my feet in the parlor. I ran to the rear and called for help to the neighbors. There was no response. Then I ran into the front room, and taking Elizabeth's head in my lap, I bathed the awful wound."

"I then ran to the front door and called for Myron Barbour. After a time he came. When he entered the house he exclaimed, 'My God.' In answer to a question, she said that what seemed to be a long time elapsed after her calling for Barbour, before he came.

With no show of emotion she told of the manner in which the blood from her murdered daughter stained the carpet on the parlor floor, which still remains.

WENTZ'S WILL.

Bristol, Va., May 14.—It appeared Friday night that the late E. L. Wentz left a will executed only a few days previous to his death in which he leaves his entire fortune to Mrs. D. B. Wentz, wife of the brother with whom he was so closely associated through the years of their residence at Big Stone Gap. The report that the will had been found and that it bears a date only a few days prior to his death lends color to the theory of suicide now firmly believed by many of those most conversant with the facts. The fact that the will had been discovered was just made public, but there is reliable information to the effect that it was found by his family some time since. Naturally it was not published until his death was established. Mrs. D. B. Wentz, his brother's wife, is said to be the chief, if not the sole, beneficiary under the will.

WENTZ'S FATHER.

He Makes Due Apology to the Coroner's Jury.

Bristol, Tenn., May 16.—The coroner's jury which rendered a verdict of accidental shooting in the case of Edward L. Wentz, whose dead body was found in Wise county, Virginia, several days ago, Sunday afternoon received a reply from Dr. J. S. Wentz regarding his alleged criminal charge in relation to the finding of the jury. Dr. Wentz makes due apology to the jury, declaring that he did not use such terms as were credited to him in the press dispatches. Dr. Wentz was credited with intimating that the verdict was intended to shield the murderers of his son, who were friends of the jury. No one stands higher in Wise county than the men who served on the Wentz jury of inquiry and in the absence of an apology from Dr. Wentz a damage suit would certainly have resulted.

Washington, May 16.—The independence party, a faction of the democratic party in this city, elected contesting delegates to the St. Louis national convention and instructed them to vote for Judge Parker for president.

Young Giant Seeks a Position.

Washington, May 16.—H. Lee Decker, Jamestown, N. Y., wants to be appointed to the naval academy, because, he says, he is 8 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 148 pounds and is 16 years old. He thinks his height ought to be a sufficient qualification.

Chinese Soldiers Attack Russians.

Liao Yang, May 16.—Chinese soldiers Saturday attacked the railroad coal mines occupied by the Russian administrative force near Port Adams and drove out the officials who were working therein, many of them escaping only partly clad.

Five Eaten By Cannibals.

Vancouver, B. C., May 16.—Mail advises on the Australian steamer Miocene that five men were killed and eaten by cannibals of the Admiralty Islands in the South sea. The British warship Condor was sent to the scene.

Pleaded Guilty to Bigamy.

St. Paul, Minn., May 16.—Rev. Chas. A. Lyons, who pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. Lyons is said to have wives at Montreal, Cincinnati, Providence, R. I., and in Texas and Colorado.

HON. SOUTH TRIMBLE, of Franklin County.

THE RIGHT ONE.—Your attention is called to the list of new subscribers added to the exchanges of the East Tennessee Telephone Company in Bourbon county since March 1st, 1904, published elsewhere in this issue, which is certainly convincing evidence that you make no mistake when you give this company your order for a telephone. They now have one thousand subscribers in this county, nine hundred and fifty of which are already in operation, and the others will be just as soon as the fourth station of switch board is completed, which was necessary to be added to the Paris exchange, as well as branch exchange at Ruddles Mills, which will be installed at once for the benefit of those who live in that part of the county.

The Lexington Convention

Nearly twelve months ago several shrewd politicians of the Seventh Congressional District, met in solemn conclave and unanimously resolved to defeat the renomination of the Hon. South Trimble. Plans were skillfully laid and schemes cunningly devised to bring about this "consummation devoutly to be wished."

The first fruits of this meeting were seen when the Hon. Pres. Kimball, of Fayette, the Hon. Campbell Cantrill, of Scott, and the Hon. Samuel DeHaven, of Oldham, were announced as candidates to succeed Mr. Trimble. The next thing decided upon to assure the overthrow of Mr. Trimble was to have the district committee to call a convention and to be held in the city of Lexington. To encompass Mr. Trimble's defeat, it was further decided upon and agreed that the party law must be violated in making the basis of representation the last Gubernatorial instead of the last Presidential vote. The effect of this was to give Fayette county 28 votes in the convention and to cut down Owen, a strong Trimble county, from 17 to 14 votes. By this strategic movement it would give the combined anti-Tibble forces 53 votes, enough to organize the convention and control nomination. When the District Committee met at Frankfort and voted to hold the convention at Lexington, and to base each county's representation on the last Governor's vote the politicians who had so adroitly devised this plan, felt sure of the defeat of Mr. Trimble and equally as certain of Mr. Kimball's nomination. In fact it seemed a foregone conclusion that the above scheme was so skillfully planned that all that was to be done was to patiently await the coming of the convention day, when it would just as neatly be carried into execution. Had Bourbon county been consulted in this division of party affairs and party honors? Was she represented at this meeting, and was she to get anything in the divide? Nay! Nay! Fayette county and Lexington had come to believe and look upon us as their "onliest own," ever ready and willing to respond to Lexington's bidding. What cared Lexington if Bourbon county had ambitious sons, eminently fitted to represent this grand old district in Congress? Bourbon county was not needed to carry into successful execution the schemes of Lexington and she was ignominiously ignored.

But Bourbon county had a favorite son in the Hon. Claude M. Thomas, and after a careful survey of the difficulties which he saw in his way, he concluded to try to secure the coveted nomination. He and his friends felt that if he failed at this time, it would certainly put him in good form to enter the contest two years hence. They saw at least a fighting chance for Mr. Thomas to win, even though it was realized that every stroke was to be against high tide. Good politicians began to think Mr. Trimble was hopelessly beaten. They saw in this gigantic combine's figures a number sufficient to organize the convention and control the nomination. Fayette county had 28 votes, Sco t county had 12, Woodford 8 and Oldham 5, making a total of 53 votes, two more than necessary for a choice.

It was decided among Mr. Thomas and his friends that his only chance to break the combine was to go at once to the county of Woodford and secure at least a divide of its delegation. It was generally conceded that the 8 votes of Woodford would be secured by Senator Campbell Cantrill. It was well known that Senator Cantrill did not at any time expect to be nominated, nor was it his purpose to secure the nomination for himself. He was in the fight to aid his distinguished father in his Appellate aspirations. For this he was highly commended. When the Versailles convention gave Claude Thomas four votes and allowed him to name such delegates as Dr. Neet, Harry McWilliams, Harry Taylor and Henry Jesse, from that good hour, only the nomination of Claude Thomas or South Trimble was probable.

Mr. Trimble had an enviable position, having 39 votes from Owen, Henry and Franklin, which no one could ever get without Mr. Trimble's consent, and he was the second choice, politically, of every one of his opponents. Mr. Trimble could have remained at his home asleep and been nominated. It was evident Mr. Kimball didn't want Mr. Thomas for the same reason that Mr. Thomas didn't want Mr. Kimball—each felt that to see his opponent win would be to put out of consideration any other man for several terms. The proposition of Fayette to nominate that distinguished son of Woodford, Judge Robt. Stout, was never made in good faith, and Woodford need not feel unkindly towards Dr. Neet for being shrewd enough to see through Lexington's bluff, and for sticking to Claude Thomas.

When the Bourbon delegation arrived in Lexington they were confronted with a proposition from Mr. Trimble's friends to join in organizing the convention. A similar proposition came from the friends of Mr. Kimball. To accept that of Mr. Trimble's friends, Bourbon county believed she would be asked to seat one half of the contesting delegates from Woodford for Mr. Trimble. This she was unwilling to do. On the other hand, she declined to enter into negotiations with the Kimball people, for she believed they desired seating one-half of the contesting delegation from the county of Owen for Mr. Douglass. Bourbon held aloof from any complication and decided to put up Judge Henry C. Smith for Temporary Chairman.

Bourbon county has no quarrel with Fayette county, or with any one. She is perfectly satisfied with the convention. She has no other choice. Claude M. Thomas made a gallant fight. He comes through with clean hands, no pledges broken, no promises unredeemed, all reports sent out from Lexington to the contrary notwithstanding. No candidate ever went out in any district and in such short time made as many strong and lasting friends.

This is the first convention in many years in which Bourbon county was anything but a figure head. Her delegation named the Chairman, selected the Secretary and was at all times consulted upon questions arising in the convention, and Bourbon's vote influenced their decision.

Bourbon county feels very much gratified over the reported deals, whereby Judge Cantrill's nomination for Appellate Judge is assured. We trust they are true and will be carried out to a successful finish. We have been promised a few things, among them the selection of Hon. A. S. Thompson as Executive Committee-man from this District, and that Bourbon county shall choose the next Circuit Judge to succeed Judge Cantrill.

While Bourbon entered the fight at the eleventh hour, yet in looking over the work of the convention, have we no reason to be satisfied?

This is considered an honor, and it is the expectation of the Bourbon members of the Trap Shooters' League to augment it by putting off the honors of the field in the event.

The L. & N. Improvements.

Work has begun on the extensive improvements that were anticipated by the Paris papers at the L. & N. depot. Two 10 by 12 frame rooms are being annexed to the Trainmaster's office, and the old building has been raised 18 inches. These two rooms are to be used for the Superintendent's office and running up through the office is a large telegraph pole, which, we understand, is to be used for a whipping post by the Superintendent.

The improvements to be put on the depot will probably be a little fresh paint. If we could only annex Millersburg to Paris, then we would have a first-class depot, but maybe Paris will after a while cease to be a little way station and this enterprising corporation will then build us a new depot.

Mr. W. H. Anderson, it is reported, will assume the duties of Superintendent on May 1st, in place of Mr. Louis Hood. This is a deserved promotion for Mr. Anderson, who has from the bottom round worked his way up, until now he stands on the top round, and is recognized to be one of the best railroad men in the country. Mr. Hood will take the place of Mr. Brent Arnold, as Superintendent of Terminals at Cincinnati, and Mr. Arnold will be made Vice-President. The place for Mr. Anderson's place has not yet been determined on, but Mr. Geo. Wilder, of Paris, is mentioned, and a better man could not be selected for the place.

Bourbon Raised By State Board.

Judge H. C. Smith received notice yesterday from the State Board of Equalization that lands in Bourbon county had been raised eight per cent, and town lots five per cent, notifying him to appear before the board and show cause, if any, why this advance on the assessment of the county should not be made.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Fannie Saloshin Margolen, aged 55, wife of H. Margolen, died suddenly Friday morning, about 6 o'clock, at her home on Henderson. She is survived by her husband and seven children—two daughters and five sons. She was a sister of Louie and Frank Saloshin, of this city. The remains were taken to Cincinnati and buried in the Jewish cemetery.

Mrs. Margolen was a kind and loving wife and mother, and an industrious and most estimable woman. This grief-stricken family has the deepest sympathy of this entire community.

John W. Wilcox, aged 74, died Saturday morning of general debility at his home on Cypress street. He is survived by his wife and five children—Mrs. J. Hooker Stivers, Ward Wilcox, Miss Cora Wilcox, James Wilcox and Mrs. Sallie Sallie.

Mr. Joshua Newhall, aged 97 years, one of our oldest and highly respected citizens, died at his home in this city, on Saturday afternoon, of Bright's disease.

Mr. Newhall was born in Devonshire, England, March 12, 1806, and was a member of the Church of England. He was educated in Edenburg, Scotland, and at the age of fourteen received a diploma for civil engineer and draughtsman. In 1821 he accompanied his father, who was sent as an employee of the English Government to supervise its mining interests in Lasco, Mexico. After five voyages across the ocean he located in America about 1830. In 1839 he was married to Kathryn Powers, of Culpepper Court House, Virginia. He came to Bourbon county to reside in 1867.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Pamela Reid, and two sons, Joseph and William Newhall.

Mr. Newhall worked at the machinist trade up to a short time before his death.

The funeral services were held at the residence yesterday morning, conducted by Dr. E. H. Rutherford, and the remains placed in the vault at Paris cemetery.

The Odd Fellows also held their burial services at the cemetery. He had been a member of that order since 1832, and a member of Ohio Lodge, No. 1, of Cincinnati.

Chief Hill and Officer Elgin also promptly responded to calls at the houses mentioned above and began at once to work on every clue obtainable.

A Continual Strain.

Many men and women are constantly subjected to what they commonly term "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and despondency. They cannot, as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health-destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.—W. T. Brooks

Healthy Mothers.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Bo-chee's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough-racked consumer. New trial bottles, 25c; large size, 75c. At all druggists.—W. T. Brooks

FOR JUDGE OF COURT OF APPEALS.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE FIFTH APPELLATE COURT OF KENTUCKY—I am a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals from this District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. As Circuit Judge, it became my duty to try a number of criminal cases, which have become a part of the State's history and at a most critical time. As Judge of the State Fiscal Court, it fell to my lot to construe the Statutes adopted, to put in force the provisions of the new Constitution, as well as to construe the present Constitution whenever a controversy arose as to its proper construction. Almost innumerable cases have burdened the dockets of my court, touching the rights of corporations and the exercise of franchise under law. How well I have discharged my duties under such trying circumstances, is left to you to determine.

I will be very grateful to all who feel they can assist me to secure the high position and office to which I aspire.

Very respectfully,

JAMES E. CANTRELL.

FOR CONGRESS:

We are authorized to announce W. P. Kimball, of Fayette county, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from Seventh District, subject to the action of the district convention to be held in the city of Lexington on Thursday, May 12, 1904.

I am a candidate for re-election to Congress from this District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. I believe in getting as close to the people as possible, and it was my desire that a primary election be held to select a Democratic nominee for Congress, so that every Democrat could have the privilege of going to his precinct voting place and expressing his choice, but my opponents desired mass conventions at the county seat, and the committee so ordered.

I am now serving my second term as your Representative. I have endeavored, to the best of my ability, honestly, faithfully and conscientiously to do my duty. It is my highest ambition to secure legislation for the relief of the farmers, who have been so grossly imposed upon by unjust laws, and I feel that my experience has fitted me to render valuable service on this line, if I am permitted to continue to represent my District.

My official duties in Washington will prevent me from making an active personal campaign in all the counties of the district, therefore, I will have to rely on my friends to take care of my interest, which I have an abiding faith they will do. Trusting my service as a member of Congress meets with your approval, and hoping my candidacy will receive your valuable aid and support, I am

Very respectfully yours,

TOLD OF MEN OF NOTE.

W. P. McConnell, state dairy and food commissioner of Minnesota, has decided to make war on such summer drinks as are tinted with harmful coloring matter.

Two steamfitters were called in to fix some coils in the office of the commissioner of patents. In their usual working clothes, they walked in without ceremony and went to work. Commissioner Allen, who has a prodigious idea of his own dignity, looked at them in amazement and finally asked: "Do you know where you are?" "Sure!" said one of the men, "we're in the patent office." "Just so," observed the official. "I am the commissioner of patents for the United States and you have your hats on!" "Glad to know you," said the steamfitter, "but we didn't come in to call on you. We came in to fix the pipes."

JAMES R. KEENE is a man of few words, but can be as courteous as a cavalier or as acridly sarcastic as the late Mr. Whistler. The financier was cornered in his office one day by a woman with a social economy hobby, who talked away much of his valuable time. During a half hour Mr. Keene had not a single chance to get in a word, so volatile was his visitor. But in telling of a surprise she had experienced she said: "Why, Mr. Keene, my heart was in my mouth; I couldn't speak." "Marvelous!" exclaimed the big operator, rising. "I regret it was not my pleasure to have met you then."

Mr. Perkins, of California, whom Mr. Frye often calls to preside over the senate, was discussing the appropriation for carrying mails to the Tahiti group, when Mr. Simmons of North Carolina arose. "Mr. President," said Mr. Simmons, addressing the chair in the prescribed parliamentary form for asking a senator to yield. "The senator from North Carolina," responded Mr. Perkins, as though he were yielding the gavel, without waiting for Mr. Simmons to ask that he yield. "Did the senator from California recognize the senator from North Carolina?" quickly asked Mr. Frye, and the incident concluded with a general laugh.

RAILWAY RUMMLES.

Benjamin Moore, the oldest locomotive engineer in the world, has completed 54 years of continuous service with the Central railroad of New Jersey.

Sir William Van Horne, the Canadian railroad magnate, who is interested in several Cuban lines, declares that lack of hotel accommodations in Havana is working much harm to the island. In his judgment hundreds of investors and thousands of tourists are kept away from Cuba every year from this cause. He wants to use the penitentiary in Havana as a hotel next winter.

George Gould's recent trip of over 4,500 miles of his various railroads was made with one engine, the same man being at the throttle all the way. The engineer was E. J. Hadlock, who some four years ago made the run of 864 miles from El Paso to Texarkana without leaving his locomotive. The average running time of Mr. Gould's trip was 60 miles an hour, 80 miles being covered in that time frequently.

George W. Boyd, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, has received from Emperor William the order of the crown in recognition of various special acts of kindness to Prince Henry, of Prussia, who visited this country two years ago. The distinction was conveyed to Mr. Boyd through the medium of Ambassador Baron Von Sternburg. The order of the crown was instituted in 1861 by William I. to commemorate his coronation as king of Prussia.

Miss Alice M. Smith, of Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering may be permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain, and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I ran across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain, and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."—Miss Alice M. SMITH, 804 Third Ave., South Minneapolis, Minn., Chairman Executive Committee, Minneapolis Study Club.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the various natural crises and is the safe-guard of woman's health.

The truth about this great medicine is told in the letters from women being published in this paper constantly.

Cyrus Townsend Brady, the author, had occasion to consult his physician for a slight ailment on one of the extremely cold days recently. He was busily engaged in his literary work on the doctor's arrival. Hurrying into the reception hall from his library, he said: "Doctor, I wish you to get through with me as speedily as possible. I left the hero and heroine by the side of a little babbling brook, and I'm afraid they will freeze to death if I don't get back soon."—Argonaut.

Learned from "Poker."

In Florence, lately, one of several Italian ladies who were entertaining Mark Twain, asked what was the American national game. "Poker," he responded. When she laughingly protested that he was facetious, he gravely reiterated his statement, and added: "Madam, to the game of poker the American people owe the most valuable lesson a nation can learn: Never give up, even after you have lost your last chance."—Argonaut.

Sure to Do It.

"And you say you saw the man knocked insensible by footpads and deliberately left him in that condition in a lonely place?"

"Sure; that's just what I did. I knew he'd come 'round all right."

"What reason had you to be so certain that he'd come 'round?"

"Reason? Why, the man was a bill collector!"—N. O. Times-Democrat.

Breakfasts for School Children.

In the large German cities there are many children who must attend school, beginning at eight o'clock in winter, and seven in summer, who do not get enough to eat for breakfast. Consequently, arrangements have been made in a number of places for providing the necessary food for those in need. During the winter of 1902-1903 in the ten largest cities 24,000 were fed daily.

BAD DREAMS

Indicate Improper Diet, Usually Due to Coffee.

One of the common symptoms of coffee poisoning is the bad dreams that spoil what should be restful sleep. A man who found the reason says:

"Formerly I was a slave to coffee. I was like a morphine fiend, could not sleep at night, would roll and toss in my bed and when I did get to sleep was disturbed by dreams and hobgoblins, would wake up with headaches and feel bad all day, so nervous I could not attend to business. My writing looked like bird tracks, I had sour belchings from the stomach, indigestion, heartburn and palpitation of the heart, constipation, irregularity of the kidneys, etc."

"Indeed, I began to feel I had all the troubles that human flesh could suffer, but when a friend advised me to leave off coffee I felt as if he had insulted me. I could not bear the idea, it had such a hold on me and I refused to believe it the cause."

"But it turned out that no advice was ever given at a more needed time, for I finally consented to try Postum, and with the going of coffee and the coming of Postum all my troubles have gone and health has returned. I eat and sleep well now, nerves steadied down and I write a fair hand (as you can see), can attend to business again and rejoice that I am free from the monster Coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ten days trial of Postum in place of coffee will bring sound, restful, refreshing sleep. There's a reason.

THE MODERN BABY.

They can say that I must not be rocked because my brain might addle! If I could speak, they would be shocked; I'd call that fiddle-faddle. And yet, of course, they ought to know—Still, I can't help but wonder If some one rocked them years ago When folks were apt to blunder.

They stand around me, looking wise, And say they must not pet me; A gentle pat to soothe my cries May never claim would further fret me. My raising must conform to law—To each jot and tittle— Did people hold them off with awe When they were bald and little?

They say that bouncing me is sure To make me very nervous. That children's frames cannot endure Such sadly thoughtless service. Yet these phlegmatic scientists, Ere they began to toddle, Were bounced until their chubby fists Played tattoos on the noddle.

When I stretch out my willing arms Inviting them to frolic They rise in wondering alarm And talk of croup and colic— It's hard to be a baby now; They will not put or jump us; And when I sleep, my peaceful brow Must lie straight with the compass.

When I grow up, of course I'll be A triumphal scientific, But really, it seems to me My hard luck is terrible. If I could only speak my mind—

One unbanned custom they would find— They still think they may spank me!

THE VANREITH'S VISITOR

By KATE M. CLEARY

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co. "As she leans—the slow smile half shut up in her eyes Beams the sleepy, long, silk-soft lashes beneath; Thrills her crimson lips, stirred by her faint replies; Breaks one gleam of her pearl-white teeth."

—Owen Meredith.

WITHOUT a wild March storm was raging. It went blustering along the city streets. It drove pedestrians to seek shelter. It sent its icy downpour driving against the plate glass windows of aristocratic Linden square, and half-blinded a man seeking a certain number along that thoroughfare.

"There—that's the number Frank said!" The cab dismissed, he turned to the house, which was one of a closely-built block of residences, each dissimilar in design, but not sufficiently so to make distinction easy in such a storm. The vestibule door yielded to his grip on the door handle. The insertion of his latch key in the lock of the inner portal admitted him to a wide, imposing hall, where a cluster of electric lights shed subdued effulgence from a sheaf of poppies upheld on the newel post by a bronze Ceres.

Hildreth Marlow soundlessly closed the door behind him, and stood motionless a moment, breathing heavily. He found the seclusion and warmth of this haven delightful after his battle with the elements.

"With pleasure!" He misunderstood the mocking light in those laughing eyes, and was about to thank her, when she put out a pretty, protesting hand. "I'm sorry you would admire Ellen's children," she said. "They are darlings!" "Oh!" he ejaculated, blankly. "She is married, then?"

"Yes. I've just been up with the little lad. He had a bad dream. Just now his mother is indisposed, or she would come down to meet you." They heard the hall door open—a tread in the hall. "There," rising hastily, "there is Mr. Rogers now!" he said.

Storm-beaten and red-faced, Frank Rogers came bustling in. He looked from one to the other of the occupants of the library, and began to laugh. His broad shoulders heaving, his countenance convulsed with mirth. And the lady before the hearth laughed, too—a low, long peal that broke on the air like silvery spray.

Marlowe stood petrified with astonishment. It was his hostess who took pity on his bewilderment.

"Mr. Rogers lives next door," she explained. "These two houses were built for sisters, originally, and the locks could be opened by either. I sent word to Mr. Rogers that you were here, and—"

The jolly short man stopped talking long enough to make proper introductions.

"This is Mrs. Vanreith's home into which you've blundered, old boy!" he declared. "She is ill, and her sister is staying with her. Allow me to introduce you, Hildreth, to Miss Elaine Sherwood!"

The man from the west bowed respectfully. Miss—Elaine Sherwood! Good! But you seemed to know me!" he blurted out. "You said Mr. Rogers was expecting—"

"He was!" She beamed, and the dimples came back. "He told me when I met him in the train yesterday that the old friend of whom he was always raving was coming to visit him."

"But why did you not—"

"Undeceive you? Not for worlds! What! Have Mr. Rogers miss all the fun of witnessing your discomfiture? How very unneighborly you must imagine me!"

"I know what I imagine you!" avowed Marlowe, in a significant aside.

"Now," cried the girl, ignoring the speech and the glance that accompanied it, although the fish in her cheeks had deepened to carmine, "I'm going to see about some supper."

When she had vanished Marlowe brought his fist down on the arm of his chair with a mighty thud.

"Rogers, I'm going to marry that girl!" he announced.

"Shouldn't wonder!" assented Rogers, cheerily. "You've got a way of taking destiny by storm. Miss Elaine will likely be no exception."

burglar with modesty he does not possess!" she declared. "Sit down and tell me about your far-away world of snows and hardships, and deprivations!"

He needed no urging. It was profoundly pleasant to lounge there in the warmth and light, and hear the rain beating about the glass. That interested and radiant face confronting him would have inspired less fascinating recontour than Hildreth Marlowe to please such as Desdemona. He talked much. But he also talked well. For, being college bred, and a man of keen observation, he had brought back with him treasures of picturesque truth that others had underestimated, or passed unnoticed.

He admired his rugged physique, his strong, bronzed features, his look of power—of thinking for himself, and of acting for himself. And he mentally approved the aesthetic beauty of the woman, the luster of her hair, the delicate sweep of chin and throat, the nuttiness and grace of the little ringed, white hands.

Indeed an hour whisked away at a most astonishing rate of speed.

"It is almost time for Frank—" he began, when a distant cry startled him. It was the voice of a child, he fancied. Frank had said he had no children Marlowe sent an inquiring glance toward his vis-a-vis.

"You will excuse me a few minutes!" she begged, and passed to the door. He heard the rustle of her gown as she went upstairs. The sound of the crying ceased. When she reentered the room she sat down at a little French desk and wrote a few lines. She touched the button in the wall, and to the servant who appeared, gave the note, with a low word of instruction.

"When Mr. Rogers comes," she said, "as she sank again in her own seat, "we will have a little late supper. Men always enjoy meals at unearthly hours!" she laughed.

"Mrs. Rogers," Marlowe said, earnestly, leaning towards her, "I'm going to confide in you. Will you permit me to be personal—and perhaps egotistic?"

"I shall be charmed!" she avowed.

"Well, I'm no fatalist. I believe that a man makes himself and creates his fortune, good or evil. The old Persian who wrote about one's Heaven or hell being in one's self alone, had the right idea. I made up my mind years ago that I'd go through college, and I did—worked my way through. Then I went west, prepared to undergo all imaginable tests of endurance and endeavor until I had amassed a fortune. I've done that, too—but it's been a pull. Now, I'm back—"

"And now—what is your next ambition?" she questioned, smiling.

"There are two," he answered, promptly. "One includes the other. I want a wife and home."

He was so direct and simple in his statement, so like a great, unspiritualized boy, for all his experience and travel, that she nodded sympathetically.

"You—don't think I'm impudent!" he begged, "but—have you a sister, Mrs. Rogers?"

"Yes—the dearest sister!" The dimples were in evidence again.

"You have? Does she resemble you?"

He was intensely in earnest. "Will you introduce me to her?"

"With pleasure!" He misunderstood the mocking light in those laughing eyes, and was about to thank her, when she put out a pretty, protesting hand. "I'm sorry you would admire Ellen's children," she said. "They are darlings!"

"Oh!" he ejaculated, blankly. "She is married, then?"

"Yes. I've just been up with the little lad. He had a bad dream. Just now his mother is indisposed, or she would come down to meet you." They heard the hall door open—a tread in the hall. "There," rising hastily, "there is Mr. Rogers now!" he said.

Storm-beaten and red-faced, Frank Rogers came bustling in. He looked from one to the other of the occupants of the library, and began to laugh. His broad shoulders heaving, his countenance convulsed with mirth. And the lady before the hearth laughed, too—a low, long peal that broke on the air like silvery spray.

Marlowe stood petrified with astonishment. It was his hostess who took pity on his bewilderment.

"Mr. Rogers lives next door," she explained. "These two houses were built for sisters, originally, and the locks could be opened by either. I sent word to Mr. Rogers that you were here, and—"

The jolly short man stopped talking long enough to make proper introductions.

"This is Mrs. Vanreith's home into which you've blundered, old boy!" he declared. "She is ill, and her sister is staying with her. Allow me to introduce you, Hildreth, to Miss Elaine Sherwood!"

The man from the west bowed respectfully. Miss—Elaine Sherwood! Good! But you seemed to know me!" he blurted out. "You said Mr. Rogers was expecting—"

"He was!" She beamed, and the dimples came back. "He told me when I met him in the train yesterday that the old friend of whom he was always raving was coming to visit him."

"But why did you not—"

"Undeceive you? Not for worlds! What! Have Mr. Rogers miss all the fun of witnessing your discomfiture? How very unneighborly you must imagine me!"

"I know what I imagine you!" avowed Marlowe, in a significant aside.

"Now," cried the girl, ignoring the speech and the glance that accompanied it, although the fish in her cheeks had deepened to carmine, "I'm going to see about some supper."

When she had vanished Marlowe brought his fist down on the arm of his chair with a mighty thud.

"Rogers, I'm going to marry that girl!" he announced.

"Shouldn't wonder!" assented Rogers, cheerily. "You've got a way of taking destiny by storm. Miss Elaine will likely be no exception."

AS GOOD AS THE BEST.

The Dining Hour of the Best People Was His Eating Time as Well.

Gen. Reyes, the president of Colombia, attended a dinner party in New York before he sailed on the Kaiser Wilhelm for Paris recently, says the New York Tribune.

"They tell me," Gen. Reyes said at this dinner, "that the United States has its share of nouveaux riches—of new-rich persons. This may be so, but I am sure where the new-rich are to be found everywhere I like them. They make, though, strange mistakes."

"There is a new-rich—a millionaire—in Panama. This gentleman engaged a butler the other day."

"What time, sir," said the new butler, "would you wish to dine as a rule?"

"What time do the best people dine?" said the new-rich.

"At different times, sir," the butler answered.

"Very well," said the new-rich. "Then I, too, will dine at different times."

GAINED TWENTY POUNDS.

Harford Mills, N. Y., May 16.—This neighborhood is aroused as never before by some wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills. These began with the case of Mrs. J. D. Wallace, who had been in very poor health for a long time and who had got so bad at last that she couldn't walk from her home to the village and back, a distance of about eighty rods, without being tired out and in pain all over.

She had only used a few of Dodd's Kidney Pills, when she noticed a change for the better and in a very short time she was able to walk any reasonable distance and do any kind of woman's work without feeling any bad effects.

She has gained twenty pounds in weight in three months and is now as well a woman as could be found. She declares the Dodd's Kidney Pills deserve all the credit for her wonderful restoration.
